SHIPWRECK ON THE PACIFIC.

Theiling Account of the Wreck of the British Bark "Henry James" Six Weeks' residence of the Crew and Passengers on a louely Island -The Rescue.

ACCOUNT BY THE MARIPOSA. The following account has been kindly turnished by Purser Smith of the While lying off Tutulla, Captain Hay-and received a private letter from Lieut, sap of the U. S. steamer Mohican, stating that a boat had arrived at Apia, containing the first officer and four men of the British bark Henry James, and reported the loss of that vessel on a reef at thirty-six miles north-west of Palmyra island. They also stated that the of the crew and passengers had taken refuge on the island. A schooner been chartered to proceed to their elist, but upon maturely considering the situation, the distance that the vesaust cover (about 1400 miles), the rse winds and currents, which she would probably meet, and lastly, the destitute and suffering condition of the castaways, Captain Hayward deemed it his juty to proceed to their rescue. The island was reached at 3:05 p.m., May 29th and the shipwrecked crew were soon recognized launching their boat. A boat was immediately lowered from the Mariposa, under charge of the chief officer Mr. Hart, and upon meeting the boat from the shore, relieved them of a portion of their load and returned to the ship the other boat returning to the shore for the rest of the ship's company were out of call on the other side of the island. By 6:15 p.m. all were safely on board and the Mariposa proceeded on her course. Liberal donations of clothes and money flowed in on the outcasts, and they were soon made comfort-No serious sickness had occurred amongst them, although the women and children were beginning to suffer from lack of food and the necessaries of life. LOSS OF THE "HENRY JAMES." Captain Lattimore reports as follows The Henry James was an iron bark, of 945 tons register, built at Glasgow in 1882, bound from Newcastle, N. S. W., with a cargo of coal consigned to Balfour, Guthrie & Co., San Francisco, and owned by the North British Ship Co. of Glasgow. She ran on a reef 35 miles north-west of Palmyra at 10 p. m., April 16th, last, while going about five knots, in a smooth sea. Two boats were got ready as soon as possible, and ladies and children lowered first over the stern, as the sea was breaking along the main deck. All hands and some few provisions being safely in the boats, they stood by the ship until daylight. The captain in leaving the ship last, had a narrow escape from drowning through falling into the sea. Finding it impossible to get on board the ship again, owing to the heavy surf making a clean breach fore and aft, sail was made on the boats at seven a, m. and Palmyra Island reached at 5 p. m., a landing being effected at 7 p.m., having had heavy showers, and shipping many seas in the interim. They found on the island the remains of six huts, but no inhabitants; also a quantity of fire wood, which had been cut and piled probably by some previously shipwrecked crew. The ladies and children were made as comfortable as possible; a fire lighted, and some mutton and biscuits formed the first meal. No clothing or other effects were saved, except a pair of blankets, and they were thoroughly drenched. On Saturday, April 21st, a boat in charge of the first mate with the boatswain and three seamen, who volunteered, left the island at noon for Samoa, a distance of 1300 miles, which was safely completed in 19 days. Their provisions were seven pounds of bread (one half of the entire stock), one six-pound tin of mutton, two bottles of whiskey, one pound of cheese, two hundred and sixty cocoanuts, and ten gallons of water. On the 24th of April at 4 a. m. the, remaining boat was launched from the beach, and headed for the wreck, which was reached at 10 a. m. The ship was settling down and as the sea was breaking over her, fore and aft, it was impossible to board her, and the attempt was abandoned for good. The boat returned to the island at ten the following morning. During the six weeks' stay on the island, with the exception of diarrhoa, all hands enjoyed fairly good health. Water was found on a small island about two miles away from camp. Cocoanuts were found in abundance, and these, with eels, birds, land crabs and pepper grass formed their diet. On May 29th at 2 p. m. a steamer was sighted which proved to be the O. S. S. Co.'s steamer Mariposa. A boat was lowered from the steamer in charge of the first officer, and by 6 p. m. they were all safely on board.

LETTER FROM CAPTAIN LATTIMORE. Honolulu, June 1, 1888.

Mr. Editor: Sir: I desire to avail myself of the ealiest opportunity of ex-pressing on behalf of the passengers and crew of the "Henry James," our deep gratitude to Captain H. M. Hayward, his officers and crew for their gallant conduct in rescaing us from the perilous position in which we were placed.

We had been just six weeks on the Palmyra Islands when, to our intense joy, a steamer appeared in sight, and to our great delight we saw her making straight for the islands, and knew that our delivery was at hand.

which, owing to the low state of the tide, we had to launch more than a mile over coral rocks barefooted. Just as we launched her we noticed the steamer's and from him we learned that the R. M. pay their own way into the country.

S. Mariposa of which he was the chief officer had come to our rescue; and that Captain Hayward when he heard of the shipwreck at once and unsolicited decided to come to our help. We were taken on board the Mariposa in three boat-loads, and as each boat neared the steamer it was greeted with ringing cheers from all on board. We were received with the greatest kindness and sympathy.

The passengers of the Mariposa promptly selected from their own trunks all the clothing that was needed; and within a few hours of our first sighting the steamer we found ourselves not only on board the steamer, but clothed from head to foot, and surrounded by the kindest of friends.
In conclusion I desire to particularly thank Captain H. M. Hayward, his officers and crew, for our rescue and their many acts of kindness; and also to thank the passengers of the Mariposa for their deep sympathy and practical assistance in the supply of abundant clothing, and their munificent gift of over one hundred and fifteen pounds I am, sir.

Yours obediently, RALPH LATTIMORE. Master.

Speech From the Throne.

Everyone has been struck of course by the meagerness of Tuesday's speech from the Throne, and there were the usual rumors and speculations in regard to it. Next day our reporter went to headquarters, and managed to find the Minister of the Interior in a quiet hour.

"There has been a good deal of talk, Mr. Thurston, about the speech from the Throne. It seems scanty. "It does not fully outline the Ministerial policy."

"In what particular does it fail to do "It omits all reference to three principal measures of the present Cabinet. 1. The abolition of Governors, and consequent transfer of their duties to various officers. 2. The military bill: and, 3, a bill regarding the police.

"It repeats the bill of last session on the same subject, with slight amend-"How did this omission in the Royal message come about?" "His Majesty refused to read the passage in the speech referring to the three topics mentioned."

"What is the last?"

"On what grounds?"

"He said, I believe, that it would make him appear foolish to recommend bills which he had vetoed." "What was the Cabinet's position?" "The Cabinet claimed that the speech m the throne should be an outline of the government policy, and not an ex-pression of the King's personal views, and that the lack of it might lay the Cabinet open to criticism." What did the King say to that?" " He admitted that the omission might subject the Cabinet to criticism, but he still refused to make the references wanted. The Cabinet therefore unanimously advised him that such reference ought to be made, and that the omission should be on his own responsibility."

ton, about what the policy of the government will be?" "Well, as to the financial part of our policy-you wo ld more properly go to the Minister of Finance. I may say that we shall make a determined effort to bring the expenditure within the receipts. In general we do not intend any sensational legislation, but shall endeavor to have a short and quiet session."

Board of Health.

The weekly open meeting of the Board of Health was held at the office on Friday afternoon. Present-Dr. Emerson, President; His Excellency L. A. Thurston and Hon. J. T. Waterhouse, jr.; the Secretary, Mr. W. G. Ashley; officer, Mr. C. B. Reynolds, and a representative of the Advertiser.

There was a discussion of Government physicians available for certain vacancies, the matter being deferred to a meeting on Monday. A bill of $37 50 was read from Makapu, a native practitioner, for medicines furnished lepers. It was decided to ascertain whether the charge was for actual cost, excluding the doctor's profit on the drugs, and if so to pay the bill. The President introduced the question, raised by petition in the Legislature, regarding the treatment of lepers. His view was that the Kakaako Branch Hospital should only be used as a re-ceiving station, and that a hospital for attempting the cure of the disease be established at the Kalawao settlement, Molokai. The other members, including Mr. W. E. Rowell, who just entered the room, coincided with the President's opinion. Leave of absence was granted Dr. Brodie, Port Physician of Honolulu, for a few weeks, on account of his sister's illness in California, and Dr. Trousseau was appointed to act in his absence. Mention was made of the arrival during the day of 1,057 Japanese immigrants without any sickness among them.

A Thousand Japanese Arrived.

The steamship Takasago Maru brought 1,057 immigrants, under charge of two Japanese naval doctors. There having been no sickness on board, the people were landed during the day at the Immigration Depot. Many of their countrymen repaired thither to exchange greetings with them through the palings. The immigrants comprise 861 males and 196 females, the proportion of females being thus 22.76 per cent. Nobles and Representatives You meet to-day in regular session in accordance with the Constitution to enact laws for the welfare of the Kingdom. My relations with Foreign Powers continue of the most friendly nature. My Ministers will propose certain legis-lation concerning the Patent Laws; the in-auguration of a Parcels Post, domestic and foreign; to limit the time within which Chinese return passports may be used; to carry out more effectually the laws relating to homesteads, and also those relating to the Postal Savings Bank, to provide for the utilization of the surplus deposits of the Savings Bank, and of the unissued portion of the loan authorized by the Legislature of 1886, in carrying out certain public improvements, and concerning other matters which will promote the national welfare.

I would recommend to your consideration, in connection with the Appropriation Bill, a policy of liberal expenditure for internal improvements and the development of the industries of the Kingdom. The reports from the different Departments of the Government will inform you respecting the condition of the Kingdom, and of the revenues and expenditures dur-ing the past biennial period; and they will also present detailed estimates of the probable receipts and the proposed expendi-tures during the present period.

I express My confidence that you will be careful to see that the Appropriation Bill which you may pass shall limit the expen-diture for the ordinary purposes of govern-ment to the amount of probable receipts from results revenues.
